CARMEL--Center of Fashion

Devendorf Park is the perfect setting for Mrs. Robert Fitzsimmons as she shows this young looking rosebud print blouse coordinated with dirndl skirt from Gladys McCloud.

A comfortable, warm featherweight wool suit with a pleated skirt by "Modelia" is shown here by Mrs. Leroy Ramsey at The Cinderella Shop.

Carmel, traditional refuge for the members and patrons of the creative arts, finds itself rapidly becoming a center for purveyors of fashion.

As artists gather together, inspiring each other, so have merchants with taste and knowledge whose vocation and avocation is the discriminative selection and presentation of wearing apparel and their accessories.

Even at the turn of the 1920's when Carmel became really known for its artist colony, the population doubled each summer with visitors. It could only be, then, that shopping facilities would follow naturally the growth.

Fortunately, the many attractions of this area has brought a quality of resident and visitor who set the mode of merchandise offered. It is virtually impossible to buy anything tawdry in Carmel — gee-gaws excepted. The innate taste and discriminative buying of the shop owners is well known throughout California and elsewhere. Our merchants have clientele ranging over many states and some foreign countries who have discovered their individual personalities are best expressed in the quality and exclusive styles carried in Carmel Shops.

Besides, it's fun to shop in Carmel! When father finishes shopping he takes off for golf, fishing or plain relaxation. Mother browses along the streets and in the many fascinating courts and arcades with everything in easy walking distance. Tea with irresistible pastries or gourmet food and libations are available in tempting surroundings.

Could it be that the major stores of San Francisco found that many of their patrons of the greater Bay Area were shopping in Carmel? Did their market surveys reveal that their regular customers from San Jose through Hillsborough, et al., preferred to drive to Carmel for shopping rather than face the traffic, the parking problem and the wearisome chore of searching through a seemingly inexhaustible array of goods until maybe, maybe you found what you wanted — in your size? Wasn't this a major factor in the decision of the satraps of sartorial splendor to locate their branch stores on the Monterey Peninsula?

In Carmel, much of the perplexing difficulties of selective shopping has been solved by the knowledge and sophisticated taste of the owners of shops in their perceptive care devoted to buying.

This shouldn't sound like a travellog, but, you know, it is fun to shop in Carmel rewarding fun.

Charles Strosnider

Loveliness is a Hanro from Switzerland as shown by Mrs. George Fraley. It's the casual new look for Spring in Carmel, and may be seen at Harriet Duncan's.

Again Devendorf Park is blessed with beauty as Karen Eisenhower shows off her Kickerino Alaskan boots available in brown, yellow and black at the Village Shoe Tree.

'A Delicate Balance' Opens

by Patricia Edgerton

The opening night success of Edward Albee's prize winning "A Delicate Balance" provides a fine climax to Norman McPhee's three years of dedicated service to the Circle Theatre. The play itself seems to be Albee's attempt to appeal to a family audience. Certainly it is his least shocking, as for once he tackles normal people instead of his favorite outrageous neurotics or sexual deviates. However, if the play has a message, it probably is in this very normality. Albee implies that only a thin line indeed separates the normal from the abnormal.

He proves this by having the husband, wife, sister and daughter in turn display their peculiarities which upset only each other rather than the world so that they escape public censure and the insane asylum.

Bob Newcomb sustains well the difficult part of the husband who is a good man but weak. He is at his best describing his traumatic experience with a pet cat who, he believes, after years of loving, came to dislike him.

Roberta Thaler as Julia, the daughter, has the only violent action in the play and for a newcomer she does well. This is especially remarkable as she was almost too young for the character.

Gloria Wheeler, cast in the more sympathetic role of Clare, fits her part more easily and therefore comes across strongly and believably as the border-line alcoholic sister of Agnes.

The latter is played with her usual aplomb by Gertrude Chappell. She seems stiff, but that may be Agnes rather than Miss Chappell. An aging wife who habitually addresses her husband as "My darling," even when she is angry, can scarcely be played cozily.

Mel Isenberger and Betty Hughes are Harry and Edna, the "best friends" who descend on the already disturbed household and expect to be taken in as permanent guests. As their roles in the play are purely symbolic and unnecessarily obscure, they must be difficult to act. The actors are to be congratulated for managing to make them not simply absurd.

In short, the cast as a whole does a good job. Even the opening night muffed lines were few and well covered up. They and the director deserve praise for a difficult play, well mastered.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Pearl Queen Wilson, 74, Carmel resident for four years, died recently. She had made her home with her son, David Wilson at Monte Verde and Second. Services were held in El Cerrito.

Theatre Review

PLANET OF THE APES... a serious film with a cast of notability. Charlton Heston plays a stranded astronaut who finds a planet where the apes are the rulers.

TAMING OF THE SHREW... Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor at their very best in one of Shakespeare's more humorous endeavors.

YESTERDAY, TODAY AND TOMORROW... Sophia Loren characterizes several women of different values.

WHO'S MINDING THE MINT... a comedy.

SECRET WAR OF HARRY FRIG... starring Paul Newman and his cold blue eyes. It's about the funny "going-ons" of a World War II soldier.

BLACKBEARD'S GHOST... Walt Disney's version of a ghost watching over the life of his present day friend. Complications arise.

GUESS WHO'S COMING TO DINNER, Spencer Tracy in his final work and last teaming with Katherine Hepburn. Poitier's performance capped a remarkable year for him.

THOROUGHLY MODERN MILLIE, Carol Channing steals the show playing an eccentric wealthy widow, but also around to help in this comedy of the 1920's are Julie Andrews, who is delightful, James Fox, Bea Lillie and John Garvin. Some of the songs are from the period.

IN COLD BLOOD, gripping, authentic follow-up to Truman Capote's literate study of two killers who commit a senseless, multiple murder. Richard Brooks' direction draws the performance from newcomers, Robert Blake and Scott Wilson, and evocative detail from settings.

THE GRADUATE, interesting, if not completely compelling, comedy. Dustin Hoffman is excellent in the title role. Anne Bancroft is extremely good as the woman who seduces him and Katharine Ross is attractive as her daughter with whom Hoffman falls in love. The picture argues that all over 30 are dishonest, corrupt and unthinking.

GEORGY GIRL, a pudgy English lass' search for love, even to the point of living with her girl friend's husband. Confusing, but the three of them live together for a while, quite happily.

THE AMBUSHERS... Matt Helm, Dean Martin, does it again. Choked full with gorgeous women. THE AMBUSHERS is typically in Dean Martin style.

Spine-Tingling, Thrilling Play at Studio Theatre

by Laura Durgin

"Wait Until Dark," suspense thriller which opened at The Studio last weekend, brought enthusiastic applause from its Sunday night audience. A clever but baffling plot turned even the

'who-dun-it' addicts in the audience into fascinated observers who could not guess the outcome.

Although the action got off to a rather slow start, the fault probably more of the playwright than of the actors, a quick succession of incidents soon took over, establishing a high level of suspense, unbroken to the electrifying climax.

Diane Hall in the lead as the blind heroine gave a fine performance. It is no mean feat to convey lack of vision; yet Miss Hall did this by consistent stumbling into furniture and by maintaining (throughout the play) the fixed eye of the blind. Her sincerity and strength of character as a blind girl "who could take care of herself" won immediate rapport with the audience.

Kudos go, also, to Alison Faul, a junior high school student, whose quick natural changes in mood, as the fourteen year old helper of the handicapped heroine revealed unusual dramatic talent in one so young.

Don Osborn, as the oily yet menacing villain, transmitted a feeling of real evil while Rick Poe portrayed successfully an ex-con who, though willing to do a "job" for a couple of grand, had basic decency. Gresh Ivey, as ex-con No. 2, gave a life-like imitation of a cop; and Bill Wells, a convincing portrayal of a husband devoted to his blind wife.

Clever manipulation of the lights on stage with quick succession from light to darkness and darkness to light added to the suspense while reflecting a competent production staff.

Despite the melodramatic plot, a light touch instead of the macabre meant enjoyment for the audience from beginning to end of this tale of the underworld.

Reviews for Young Readers

By Allene Fremier

The 1968 winner of the Caldecott Medal Award, given for the most distinguished picture book of the year, has arrived on our shelf. DRUMMER HOFF, illustrated by Ed Emberley and adapted by Barbara Emberley, tells how "Private Parriage brought the carriage, Corporal Farrell brought the barrel, Sergeant Chowder brought the powder. . . but Drummer Hoff fired it off." The colorful woodcuts are delicious, climaxed with the explosion when the canon is assembled — KAHBAHBLOOM!

Another picture book by Ed Emberley also came in this week. LONDON BRIDGE IS FALLING DOWN gives the verse, then the rules of the game and then the song. The pastel illustrations are charming.

Aldous Huxley wrote only one children's story. He wrote THE CROWS OF PEARLBLOSSOM for his niece, Olivia, during a Christmas holiday in 1944. This book has now been published with illustrations by Barbara Cooney. Mr. and Mrs. Crow have a nest in a cottonwood tree at Pearlblossom. In a hole at the bottom of the tree lives an old rattlesnake, who had been dining on Mrs. Crow's eggs practically every day. One day Mrs. Crow catches him at it and hurries to tell her husband to do something about it. She tells him: "Here am I, working myself to the bone for you; when I'm not working, laying a fresh egg every single day — except Sundays, of course, and public holidays — two hundred and ninety-seven eggs a year, and not a single chick hatched out." Mr. Crow keeps cool and visits Old Man Owl, who comes up with a fine idea. You'll have lots of fun reading this one and seeing how they tricked the snake.

Scott O'Dell, who won the Newbery Award in 1961 for his ISLAND OF THE BLUE DOLPHINS, has a new one called THE BLACK PEARL. It's an exciting story with the feeling of a legend. The story is set in Baja California. Young Ramon Salazar tells his story of how he got the black pearl from the cave of the Manta Diablo. He presents it proudly to his father, who gives the pearl to the Madonna, our Lady of the Sea. The story continues as Ramon must decide whether Manta Diablo will reclaim the pearl.

Letters To The Editor

The Pine Cone
Letters to the Editor:

One can agree with the "Letter to the Editor" of March 22, 1968, that there is confusion and misunderstanding regarding the two Ordinances to be voted on April 9.

Unfortunately letters such as this one by Carvel Baldwin have contributed to the confusion and misunderstanding. The letter says — "There is nothing wrong with the present Ordinance which has served Carmel for the past thirty years." If that is so, why have the guest houses become inns and motels, with considerable inroads in the R-I residential district, even in the last four years when the present Council was in operation? Did any Councilman take action to stop these inroads? NO! If any had tried, could he have caused action to stop the inroads? "NO!" says Carmel's City Attorney.

A new Ordinance is essential to stop these inroads. Ballot Measure No. 1, Ordinance No. 156CS will do this. It says — Section I, "the City desires to prohibit further expansion, while maintaining the status quo; that it would be appropriate that this use be permitted in the areas in which they presently exist, providing there is no further expansion in either area or use —"

Adequate safeguards are incorporated in the Ordinance. But this Ordinance will have to be enforced. Pussyfooting will not do.

Regarding amendments. Yes, minor wording changes have been approved. The Ordinance is not "imperfect", as the writer claims. Vote "Yes" on Ballot Measure No. 1.

The author on March 22 refers to "commercial" use of Sunset Center. Ordinance C-156 A2 zoning is not "commercial." It legitimizes the successful operation going on at Sunset. This operation is based on guidelines established by the Carmel Council in 1965, which Mr. Norberg helped author. Tenants are carefully selected so that they are not in competi-

Fashion . . . length or look?

Have you ever stopped to think that if fashion were only a matter of skirt length, anyone who could use a needle and thread might be a pseudo designer? The woman who is afraid to wear the mini-skirt is to be praised for her sense of good taste. The best form of resistance continues to be intelligence.

There is a great deal more to fashion, as there is more to a woman, than the knee and half a thigh. Your dress should be able to walk with you, dance with you, dine with you and sit with you. It should move as naturally as the leopard's skin — and as beautifully. Elegance is the earmark of a tastefully and fashionably dressed woman — it's always a very personal thing.

Steeplechase

Excitement is mounting over the coming Hunt Race Meet to be held at Pebble Beach along the 17-Mile-Drive near Bird Rock on Saturday, April 6. Feature of the afternoon will be a sanctioned steeplechase, one of the few held in California or the Western United States in recent years. Called "The Spyglass Hill Gentleman's Steeplechase," it will be run over a timber course of about three-and-a-half miles in length.

A huge outcropping of rocks in the center of the course provides an ideal spot from which to view the entire race, and below it is the setting for "Feast Alfresco" a cocktail-luncheon in an enclosure overlooking the festivities. Proceeds from the entire event, including general admission and the luncheon will benefit All Saints' Episcopal Day School.

Reservations for "Feast Alfresco" may be made by calling Mrs. Sigurd A. Liseth at 624-1486.

New Grandparents

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alan Falge of Hatton Fields became the parents March 24, of Gregory Falge, who joins his brothers and sisters, Daniel, Maureen, Katie and Michael. Mr. Falge is part of a CPA firm in Pacific Grove.

Proud grandparents are Captain and Mrs. Frank Falge of Carmel and Captain and Mrs. Jens Feragen of Carmel Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Voalker of Pebble Beach became the parents of Kevin Winters on March 18.

In Scotland she will play golf at St. Andrews and at Glen Eagles at Perth before visiting the Highlands.

Athena Shudde and Sharon Stuart

Two Carmel High School girls have been selected as finalists in the American Field Service programs for 1968-69. Miss Athena Shudde, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Shudde, and Miss Sharon Stuart, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stuart.

Both girls are finalists in the School Program, Northern Hemisphere and now must await further word whether the AFS New York office is able to place them with a foreign family for the coming year. Last year only 73% of the finalists were actually placed as there is a shortage of foreign homes available. The girls should be notified by June if they have been selected.

At the present time Jim Buzaid is living with a Swedish family near Stockholm and attending school on the Americans Aboard program. Jim is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Buzaid and is a member of Carmel High School's class of 1968. Carmel High also has an AFSer on its campus this year; she is Miss Anne-Francoise Bathiat from Croix, France, and she lives with the James Harkins family in Carmel Knolls.

KNOW ANYONE

Living on Avenida Angel Flores in Mazatlan, Sinaloa, Mexico? The Pine Cone has a subscriber there.

Some years ago there was a man whose business was tanning hides. It occurred to him one day that if you could take an old, ugly, stiff, big-pored hide and turn it into a beautiful, small-pored, soft piece of leather like a glove—then somehow the same miracle could be wrought with human skin—particularly since there were living cells with which to work. So, he began to experiment with his own skin, using in a modified form the same things he used in tanning hides, with the result that when he died at 73 he had proven his point for his smooth, unblemished skin gave the appearance of being that of a man many years younger. He left the formulas, such as they were, to his daughter who became a cosmetologist and spent 20 years getting them into a cream and lotion form which men and women would use.

Thus, today we proudly present to you a completely NEW concept in cosmetics, a method by which "no one need ever look 40!" The Basic Treatment, one formula in five containers, is priced at $15.95, and is normally a four to six months supply. We specialize in giving individual attention in the privacy of your own home. Steeplechase

At Pebble Beach

Plans are well under way for a Hunt Race Meet featuring a gentlemen's steeplechase at Pebble Beach on Saturday, April 6. The event, sanctioned by the National Hunt and Steeplechase Association, will benefit All Saints' Day School.

The Mother's Club of All Saints Day School met this week to finalize plans for the exciting fund raising project. Mrs. Lawrence E. Tinder is president of the organization. Mrs. Howard E. Allen and Mrs. Jack L. Stein, Jr. are co-chairmen of the event and others on the committee are Mrs. Peter Farmer, posters; Mrs. Sigurd A. Liseth, tickets; Mrs. David Hill, general admission; Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Jr., publicity; Mrs. Thyra June Green, programs; Mrs. William H. Godwin, Jr., luncheon; Mrs. Frederick S. Stanley, snack bar, and Mrs. Corvin F. Stine, Jr. and Mrs. Courtney Hanson, decorations.

Invitations have gone in the mail for sponsors whose contribution will entitle them to "Feast alfresco" a gala cocktail-luncheon affair in an enclosure overlooking the race course. Luncheon is scheduled for 12:30 and the first race at 2 p.m. along the 17-Mile-Drive near Bird Rock.

Tickets and sponsorships may be obtained from any member of the committee or by calling Mrs. Liseth at 624-1486.

Del Mesa Ceremonies

Ceremonies were held last week at Del Mesa Carmel to mark the opening of a luxurious cabana club for residents of the $12 million adult community in Carmel Valley.

Guest of honor for the dedication of the $60,000 facility was Supervisor Willard T. Branson of Carmel Valley, who praised the planning and design of Del Mesa as a "lovely asset to the Peninsula."

The new building occupies 4,675 square feet and houses a 16' x 36' heated swimming pool, a 10'x16' Jacuzzi whirlpool, and men's and women's dressing rooms. The interior features dramatic arched beams spanning the ceiling and eight foot windows on three sides for open views of the Santa Lucia Mountains and the valley. Project designer is Fred E. Brooks of Carmel Valley.

Constructed of redwood siding, cedar shake roof and stone columns, the building reflects the architecture which earned the national grand prize for Del Mesa in a major competition last year. In addition to the cabana, community facilities include a lawn bowling green and Club Mesa, the 15,000 square foot community center. Within the near future, an arts and crafts center and putting green will be added.

According to Donald McLean, vice president of Carmel-Hawaii Investors, Inc., developers of the 289 home community, the first phase of 150 homes is now complete and the final portion is now underway.

Del Mesa Carmel is located on a secluded site, 400 feet above Carmel Valley Road, two miles east of Highway 1.

Welcome Home

The Frank Lloyds and John Geisens have returned from Mexico and joined the busy mainstream of life on the Peninsula. They were spotted last week at the Alliance Ball, the Oscar Lewis lecture at MPC and the Kennedy rally at the airport.

Nostalgia

By Miss Myrtle E. Miller
Every dictionary I've consulted has included homesickness and longing in its definitions of nostalgia. According to an experience I had a day or two ago at the Town House of the Carmel Foundation, I detect neither of these emotions in true nostalgia. As I opened the door, the room seemed unusually colorful and bright because of the display on the walls. The paintings for the month of March are by Mrs. Anna Katz. Someone standing beside me said they were all of the artist's childhood memories in Russia. I stepped up to the picture hanging in front of us, and lost all thought of time or space. I stood, staring, without a smidgen of desire or longing for any other place. The picture portrays a simple summer scene.

Four girls, including myself, spent four years together at college, studying the Russian language. One of our favorite haunts was a bookstore on McAllister street in San Francisco, where there was a hodge-podge of things we liked. It was there I picked up a Russian shorthand book, and two colorful prints. They were both Russian scenes, one of winter, the other of summer. I remember nothing about the artist. My mind was not on meeting artists when my plan to go to Russia should mature, but on working there. Nevertheless, those two prints were a great joy to me, and I hung them where I could see them often. So when I stood looking at a scene so like the one I had lived with long ago, I was transfixed. It was a moment of tenuous, ethereal, impalpable nostalgia, marred by no thought of the past, and painless as the heavenly joys we're told about in childhood.

OBITUARIES

Anna Krause, 73, retired University of California at Los Angeles professor, died recently. She had lived at San Luis and San Mateo avenues. She is survived by a sister. Services were held at the Mission.

Elizabeth Willis Reid, Peninsula resident for 19 years, many of them in Carmel, died a few days ago. She is survived by three cousins and a close friend for more than 60 years, Mrs. Florence Elliott of Carmel Valley.

Carmel Art Modes

"Venice Canal" by Victoria Lashkareff to be seen at Skaalegaards.

Ships and Scenery at Skaalegaards

Skaalegaard's Art Gallery, in Los Cortes Building on Dolores street, which features mainly the splendid sailing ships and marine paintings by Hans Skaalegaard, also carries the works of other capable artists.

There is sculpture by international award-winner Nick M. Guastella. Various places of interest on the Monterey Peninsula are depicted in vivid water color by Jeanne Bellmer. Contrasting with these is the heavy impasto technique of Gael Baldock.

Skaalegaard's is indeed fortunate to present the handsome impressions in oil done by local artist Victoria Lashkareff. Done with brush and palette-knife, there are character studies and scenes captured in this artist's travels around the world.

Appropriately, a new restaurant, The Hatch Cover, will be featuring paintings by Hans Skaalegaard.

"Old West" by Bruce Glen exhibited in his news gallery.

New Gallery Shows Glen

A new gallery on 6th street between Dolores and Lincoln has been opened, featuring the paintings of Bruce Glen. It will be staffed by the artist's sister, Mrs. Peggy Livingstone, and their mother.

There will also be exhibited work by the artist's father, the late Robert Glen, as well as other selected artists.

All his life Mr. Glen has been fascinated with small details, and his depiction of his exploration of the "Old West" shows this devotion to minutiae in his paintings of ghost towns and landmarks of the pioneer era, done in the exacting medium of egg tempera.

Details of woods, glass and metals are contrasted with grasses, stones and earth, along with bold contrasts of light and shadow.

Bruce Glen was born in London, England, and has lived in Carmel since 1950. He is married and has two daughters.

Musical Comments:

Gary Graffman, second pianist of the season to be offered by the Carmel Music Society, gave a brisk, well-disciplined performance at Sunset Theatre Saturday evening. There was never any doubt about his sex. Here was always a man playing, although everything on his program, even the Haydn, was given romantic interpretation.

He began with a Haydn Sonata in G Major which he attacked and dispatched with real snap, every note clean and controlled.

A seldom heard Sonata in A-flat Major, Opus 110 by Beethoven, allowed him to relax a little more with its expressive first movement, but ended with a perfectly glorious fugue worthy in grandeur to Bach at his best.

Perhaps the trickiest and most demanding portion of the program were the Brahms' Variations on a Theme of Paganini. In these the fascinating rhythms and syncopations were not allowed to dominate the immensely attractive Paganini theme. They served as an excuse for the insertion of two charming Brahms waltzes.

Following intermission, Mr. Graffman presented a group of three by Rachmaninoff, his Elegie, his Prelude in G-sharp minor, Opus 32, No. 12, and his Prelude in A minor, Opus 32, No. 8, all in the romantic mood, very well done.

The Schubert Fantasy in C Major ("The Wanderer") was a big work, much pounding, a little old-fashioned sounding, in my opinion, the least rewarding for the amount of effort expended. It seemed to take a lot out of Mr. Graffman, for he seemed exhausted at the end of it.

The enthusiastic audience let him go with two encores, an exquisite Tartini sonata with beautifully executed trills and runs, and Mendelssohn's "Spinning Song", always a favorite.

In the interest of kindness to performers, something must be done about cooling off the stage. Both Mr. Graffman and the last performer, Austin Reller, obviously suffered from the heat. In the interest of kindness to the audience, something should be done to replace those ridiculous kindergarten height drinking fountains with some that work. M. H.

Freeway Model At City Hall

A revised model of the proposed Hatton Canyon Freeway is now on display at the Carmel City Hall.

Several changes have been made including the elimination of a clover leaf at the entrance of the Carmel Valley Road which has been replaced with a more functional overpass and service roads.

The topography appears to be quite accurate and the major objections made by the Carmel Citizens Committee seem to have been cleared up.

Travel Tax Comment

"The intention, apparently is to avoid interfering with the dirty shirt set, skylarking students and other minimal spenders. But the modest American who has put aside $1,000 — say, $200 a year for five years — for the expenses of three weeks in Europe will find he now needs about 15% more, which will prove painful if not prohibitive."

— Wall Street Journal

Commission Backs Ordinances

The Carmel Cultural Commission urges a "YES" vote on Ballot Measure No. 2, approval of the Special A-2 Ordinance No. 158, Rezoning Sunset Center from its Present R-1 Residential Zoning.

At its monthly meeting on February 26, 1968, the Commission voted unanimously to publicize their views favoring this Ordinance, continuing the desirable activities now carried on at Sunset, including concerts, stage performances and lectures (for some of which tickets are sold), workshops, art exhibits, ballet schools, etc., all of which are prohibited in the R-1 Zone.

The Carmel City Council, Planning Commission, and the Carmel Citizen's Committee all urge a "YES" vote on Ballot Measure No. 2.

Carmel citizens can take justifiable pride in the conversion of this, rather rundown school into an exciting community cultural center, all done in good taste and freedom from "commercialism." The recently passed addition to the Hostelry Tax, earmarked for Sunset, will permit much needed improvement such as acoustic paneling of the auditorium, new seats, an attractive lobby, etc.

Approval of Ordinance A-2 (158) will remove from the tenants and users the fear that the privileges they now enjoy at Sunset Center will be taken from them.

To fail to approve Ordinance

A-2 (158) will mean that it cannot be re-introduced for another year, followed by a repetition of the same amount of time and effort to develop a new Ordinance. The Cultural Commission, and the tenants and users of Sunset Center would find it impossible to operate without these much-needed guide lines.

To continue the excellent progress being made to provide Carmel with an outstanding Community Cultural Center, the Sunset Commission urges a "YES" vote on Ballot Measure No. 2.

If voters wish clarification on any of these points, they may call the following Commissioners:

Dr. James Gilman, Chairman 624-6922
Robert Evans, Sr. 624-1661
Capt. Frank Falge 624-5052
Mrs. Patricia Faul 624-5257
Ted Fehring 375-1500
James Pruitt 624-6429
Donald Teague 624-4263

We may live without poetry, music and art;
We may live without conscience and live without heart;
We may live without friends; we may live without books;
But civilized man can not live without cooks.
He may live without books,
what is knowledge but grieving?
He may live without hope, what is hope but deceiving?
He may live without love, what is passion but pining?
But where is the man that can live without dining?

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

Speech Team Has Great Success

With their best effort of the year, the Stevenson Forensic Team, under the sponsorship of the Winston Churchill Forensic Club, were the dominate force at the P.F.L. speech finals held this past Saturday at M.P.C.

Eighteen of the 42 finalist were from RLS in boys division, with Stevenson dominating both boy's impromptu and exempt with 10 of the 12 finalists. RLS qualified more speakers to the State tournament than any other school in the league, and had one student, Lonnie Foy, with a double win, to lead in that department.

RLS also had the most double winners with 5, as the team is now nearing 200 trophies for the year, up some 50 from last year already, with three tournaments to go.

Winners by events were: Boys Impromptu: 1. Lonnie Foy, 2. Bruce Decker, 3. Eric Haas, and tie for 5. Jack Booth and Steve Dart. Boys Extemp: 1. Lonnie Foy, 2.

Robert Howard, 3. Joel Harris and tie for 5th with Mike Greene and Jack Booth. Dramatic: 1. Jim Russell. Humorous: 5. Robert Galvin. Oratorical Interp: 5. William Kondrat. Unlimited Oratorical Analysis: 3. Mike Greene, 4. Claude Wynn and 5. Jeff Khen. Unlimited Original Oratory: 4. Robert Howard and 5. Bruce Decker. Foy, Russell and Decker will be going to State. Foy has won more 1sts than any competitor in the league's history, while Russell had first in every round with every judge except one, for the record of the day. Decker, the third qualifier, has consistently been in the finals in every tournament he has competed in.

Play Real Delight And Success

"The Rainmaker" played to packed houses both Friday and Saturday, with STANDING ROOM ONLY on Saturday. Last week we mentioned the featured players and now credit those behind the scenes: Gary Novak as stage manager; Set design and construction were Bill Rawson, Buck Ford; Greg Guistina, Jerry Dividian, Dyke Garrison and Peter Meckel with Jeff Smith; Lights were worked and set by Lloyd Taylor, Doug Arnstein, Dyke Garrison and Peter Meckel. Props were collected by Mrs. J. High and Mrs. I. Martula with publicity being handled by Rick Johnson. This ended an outstanding season of dramatic presentation by the Stevenson Players under the supervision of Mrs. Dyke (Rosemary) Garrison.

Sports Recap

A big sports week, with a major track meet on Friday and the Far West Swim Championships last Saturday. Reports of these events will be compiled by next week. In the meantime, RLS defeated York in tennis by 9-0 to match their earlier shutout of a local team (PG). Winners were John Clancy, Ed Scott, Eric Haas, Steve Dart, Ken Drummond and Geoff Haynes in singles. Double winners were Dart and Haas, Doyle and Gerwick, plus Simmons and Lang. Also, the new Polo Team had its first win this past week and so are waiting results from Coach Ellis on this event.

Easter Vacation

The final major vacation of year starts tomorrow (Friday) and will last through Easter. No church these next two Sundays on the campus.

CANCER SOCIETY

The patients and their families want action now, they want to be winners against cancer—adding to the ranks of the 1,400,000 cured and alive today. In making the appointments, Mr. Martin said, "Our business is to put cancer out of business. The effort is worth it and it depends on the generous support of concerned and dedicated Americans. This is the way to strengthen the all-out voluntary fight against cancer."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERMON

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read this week in all Christian Science churches. Services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monte Verde and Sixth, Carmel, begin at 11:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The Responsive Reading includes these verses from Proverbs: "Let not mercy and truth forsake thee: bind them about thy neck; write them upon the table of thine heart: So shalt thou find favour and good understanding in the sight of God and man."

The following passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy are included in the Lesson-Sermon: "Harmony in man is as real and immortal as in music. Discord is unreal and mortal."

This Thursday concludes the spring series of class lessons. For information concerning private instruction in Yoga and Self - Unfoldment phone 624-6954.

Whatever Happened...

To Larry McPhail? One of our readers asked, describing him as a Carmel writer and long-ago editor of the PINE CONE. The inquirer believes Mr. McPhail left the Peninsula some time ago.

Do you know what Christian Scientists really believe?

Relatively few people do.

They are often surprised at the logical and understandable theology of this Christian religion. In fact, many people have become Christian Scientists when they have discovered how clearly it relates the teachings of the Bible to living in today's world.

Why not come into our Reading Room and learn this for yourself?

No need to speak to anyone... just come in and choose a chair and sit down to read. It could be the most inspiring and helpful time you've ever spent.

Retired?

Now you can get the best buy we've offered in 31 years.

Starting immediately, how would you like a guaranteed yearly income for life of 9% of the price you pay for an annuity?

That's just about what an Equitable Immediate Life Annuity can give a man in his middle sixties, (not quite as much for a woman because women live longer.)

This 9%* is derived from both principal and interest. But you don't have to worry about outliving your principal. Equitable guarantees your annuity income for as long as you live. Even if you live to 100 or more, your annuity checks will keep coming in.

No other type of investment can provide such a guarantee. What's more, nothing can ever reduce the income that's written into your Equitable annuity contract—which, today, gives you the most advantageous buy we've been able to offer at retirement in 31 years.

At your age, what's the lifetime income you can get? (The older you are, the higher the yearly income—about 13%* for a man of 75.) Send in the coupon below and we'll give you all the answers.

"We can go to Nassau or Bermuda, or any of the Caribbean Islands which are under foreign flags, spend all we wish without having to report. Of course it will still contribute to the dollar drain but it will free us from restrictions of which we already have too many."

— The Bristol (Conn.) Press

New owners remodeled the inside of Carmel Music Shop and to eliminate the "boreness of the walls," owner Holdie Partridge invited several local artists to display their work, including Georgia Brown and Joyce Jenkins.

Summer School At CHS Debated

Carmel Unified School Board continued its debate whether to offer summer school to high school students in the district or continue to send them to Pacific Grove which has an imposing and comprehensive list of offerings in both required and elective courses.

Arthur Gumbrell, principal at the high school submitted three possibilities in innovative education. One was a humanities course studying the "revolutionary changes which have occurred in American life in the 20th Century." Another would be the creative approach to the fine arts and fine art appreciation, such as was given last year with Peter Lyon as chairman. Another, depending on use of a computer would be a course in using the computer.

Supt. Dr. Harris Taylor was instructed to poll the students to find out what courses they would be interested in taking.

Lower Grades Summer School

At Carmelo School, from July 1-26, a summer school for district children in kindergarten through fourth grade was approved with Edwin McCurry as principal, using most of the present staff.

The purpose is to provide individualized learning opportunities; to train teachers in the use of individual instruction techniques and materials; to provide a demonstration model of team teaching and non-gradedness; and to offer course work to district teachers for which college credits through Pepperdine College will be given.

About $6,425 of the $10,800 will be underwritten by Pepperdine College, Kettering foundation and basic aid.

Carmel Music Shop Opens

For Mrs. Holdie Partridge the purchase of Carmel Music on Dolores near 6th represents her first job, and "I'm determined to learn it," says Mrs. Partridge, wife of a recording engineer who has been in the recording business in Los Angeles for many years.

Mrs. Partridge has been supervising the building of new cabinets to hold records, the complete redecoration of the shop, and has been studying the titles lists of records and tape recordings, so that she will not be at loss when requests are made.

As she put on a record by Gilberto and Jobin, Brazilian guitarists, so that passers-by could hear it as they passed the open Dutch door, she added that they also have new needle cartridge replacements for record players and all sorts of Hi-Fi equipment.

Carmel Travelers

(Last issue young Gilbert Boyer, Jr. wrote his parents from Iran where he spent his Christmas season. We pick him up again, now in Turkey where he took an original Turkish Bath.)

"You just go about 500 yards from here, by the Blue Mosque, on the right hand road and it will be on the right," said the Turkish waiter with the usual filthy brown, black and orange stained white jacket. We walked to a small side street on the right, dirty, narrow, roughly cobbled. On the bend we could see a building unlike the others. That building, buried in the corner, had an ordinary wooden door set in a small inset wooden porch and half-frosted windows, dirty from decades of multi-varied traffic. The faded wooden sign hanging outside against the second story spelled out "HAMAMIM." That sounded somewhat like one of the words the waiter had said so we knocked, and went in — into a Turkish bath.

The world had changed a little, the unceasing honking of the idiot Turkish bus, car, minibus (dolmus) and especially of the taxi drivers, was muted. The filth outside the door had been relegated to a second fiddle of stained fly-specked walls and a dusty floor. The penetrating dampness and the moist cold winter wind had been killed by a wood-burning heater with its long chimney pipe stretching like a spider's leg across the two-story high, 15 foot square room.

We were greeted just inside the door by a roly-poly mustache who fleeced us of our 375 Kurus (30 cents) apiece and led us past the black, impenetrable, mustachioed stares of about fifteen half-naked Turks to a dingy, untidy dressing room. The Turks were sitting around the heater, wrapped from waist to calves in their towels (not like our "Turkish" towels) relaxing and warming themselves. The conversation having stopped dead at our appearance, we felt as if we were being stared at by the animals in a zoo.

In the dressing room we were supplied with wooden clogs from the rack and a long red muslin towel with faded yellow stripes. (The towels were brought to us by a boy who had climbed the stairway on the wall to a rickety wooden balcony from which clothes-lines were stretched, each line hung with dozens of towels drying over the stove). The boy showed us how the towel, folded double, should be wrapped around the hips and then tucked in to stay in place.

Through a small door with a painted arch we entered still another world. All was built of marble — floors, wash basins, walls, tables to lie on — and the marble wasn't cold, but comfortably warm and clean enough to eat from. There were more small arched doors in the marble walls leading to smaller bathing rooms. Each room was rimmed by a marble ledge, six inches high and a yard wide. This ledge was separated into compartments by small half-yard high sheets of marble perpendicular to the walls at eight-foot intervals.

After our baths we made our way back through the door to the big, dusty room, and the Turks' stares, to the dressing room, where the slyly smiling boy brought us each two dry towels, one for above the waist and one for below.

Then, clean and again clothed, we braved the smoldering stares a fourth time to return to the noisy world of the taxis, busses and dolmus.

Anyone for chilled wine and cheese? What could be finer than sipping a glass of chilled wine and nibbling a bit of tangy cheese while driving through the Rhine Valley or skirting the Coast of the French Riviera! All this and more are not dreams, but comforts available today aboard the newly-designed motorcoaches of American Express. Other innovations include individual air-conditioning, thick carpets, double floors to insure quiet, wider reclining armchair seating with extra leg room and amphitheatre seating (gradual incline).

Shipped to this country by the United States Lines, these 11-ton, 44-passenger motorcoaches are now touring the U.S. and are open for inspection in 43 cities. An American Express Bus will be displayed at the Casa Munras Hotel, Tuesday, April 9 at 8 p.m.

tion with local merchants — there are no retail stores at Sunset, nor will there be. The income from auditorium use and from the tenants is now substantial and is helping to relieve the tax burden on Carmel's hard-pressed taxpayers.

The author says — "you will have opened the door for future rezoning, etc., etc." This is one of the red herrings of this author. No such rezoning is contemplated or likely to happen.

Another red herring, and a complete misrepresentation, is his statement — "In the proposal there is also provision for building a three-floor garage on Sunset property." And he uses the "fear" technique saying — "a garage can begin the day after election!" What nonsense. No parking garage is planned.

Carmel is morally committed to face this Sunset issue squarely and give Sunset suitable, adequate zoning. Sunset is not a residence.

Be sure to vote April 9 and vote "yes" for Ballot Measure No. 2.

Letters To The Editor

April 1, 1968

The Editor, The Pine Cone
Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif.
Dear Sir:

Listed below are the reasons why I am voting no against the Ordinance to allow motels in the residential district.

1. This ordinance will allow the present guest cottages to be demolished and rebuilt into commercially planned, promoted and operated modern motels competitive to those in the business district.

2. This Ordinance WILL NOT prevent expansion or creeping expansion of the present guest cottages as effectively as the present ordinance. If expansion were attempted under the present law, the owners would place their entire operation in jeopardy.

3. Expansion has been stopped in the past under present law.

4. Section 1 of the proposed Ordinance DOES NOT become a part of the municipal code, and within that section is the only place in which it is stated that motel expansion is prohibited. The standards of the Ordinance are set in the remaining sections of the Ordinance that DO amend and become a part of the municipal code.

5. Section 3(3) (ii) Site Area of the Ordinance states that upon reconstruction there can be no more than one unit for every 1500 square feet of land. Yet, the Ordinance DOES NOT limit the total land area.

6. Section 3(3) (v) Units. This section states that lodging units per building shall not exceed 10 but DOES NOT limit the number of buildings.

7. This Ordinance allows an unlimited number of commercial motel buildings containing up to 10 units per building within 3' of the property lines adjoining single family residences.

8. The proposed ordinance will allow the construction of new motel buildings in the residential district to lower fire resistive standards than those constructed in the business district. The business district is Fire Zone No. 2; the residential district is Fire Zone No. 3. This lessens health and safety factors in motel construction in Carmel.

9. The present law absolutely does not allow motels in the R-1 Zone except under non-conforming uses. The proposed Ordinance DOES ALLOW motels and allows them to be perpetuated forever.

10. This Ordinance violates the General Plan of Carmel.

11. This Ordinance is discriminatory by granting privileges to certain property owners while not extending those same privileges to other property owners within the same district. This is against sound public policy and is what constitutes spot zoning. If enacted, can the City continue such discrimination, or will it be compelled by the courts to issue permits for motels to any or all property owners, or future owners, desiring such land use? Isn't this discriminatory action unconstitutional?

This ordinance would set an irrevocable precedent that could lead to uncontrolled motel use throughout the residential zone.

The above mentioned opinions are based upon my experience in the enforcement of building and zoning laws and as Administrator of Planning and Development in other cities.

Very truly yours,

Leslie Gross, Carmel

An accident involving three automobiles including a sheriff's car occurred yesterday afternoon on Carmel Valley Road.

Valley Accident Involves 3 Cars

Yesterday, a three car collision occurred on Carmel Valley Road just East of Meadow Road.

Officer Douglas Mathews of the Sheriff's Office stopped his patrol car along side that of Scott Mehninger's off the East bound lane to discuss a traffic situation. Both were standing between their cars when Willie Fritsche of Carmel, traveling East, rammed the sheriff's car with an impact that sent it over the four foot roadside embankment, ending up against Mehninger's car.

Mr. Fritsche suffered major injuries and was taken to Monterey Community Hospital. Officer Mathews was treated for minor injuries.

Council Rejects Theatre Rate Hike

Last evening's City Council session marked the final meeting for at least one Councilman, possibly three: Mayor Steve Grant, who will not seek re-election, Gunnar Norberg and Eben Whittlesey, both of whom are seeking additional terms.

Mayor Grant was lauded by his fellow Councilmen and by Dr. James Gilman representing the Cultural Commission "in recognition of good service during your service to the City as Mayor and Council member."

No Higher Theatre Rates

Much discussion centered around the proposed new rate structure for Sunset Theatre. The rates for the most part were to double and in the case of professional productions, would triple.

Councilman Herb Blanks cast a shadow of doubt over the proposed hike, and questioned Chairman Gilman and Sunset Manager Cole Weston with respect to the hike's possible deterrence of theatre use.

Weston admitted that he argued this point with the Commission but that they had won, voting unanimously for the increase. Dr. Gilman stated that his Commission had given the question considerable thought, but offered to take it back to the body. The Council voted to return the request to the Cultural Commission for further study.

Bob Eustis, representative of Pacific Gas and Electric, appeared to present the City with their annual franchise checks totaling over $7500. "I wish we could do this more than once a year," he said.

'Leash Law' Being Studied

Because of the increasing problem of dogs running loose on the beach unattended by anyone, and because they have attacked other dogs and disturbed people on the beach, the City Council is now considering a "leash law."

The Committee on Public Welfare indicated in their report that little damage to other animals or people result from dogs who are with their masters, and that it is not desirable at the present time to altogether forbid dogs to be allowed loose on the beach.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey said that he had noted continued abuses by dogs with no supervision on the beach. "People are not considerate of their neighbors, or the community as a whole," Whittlesey said. He felt that this law is worth a try.

On the other hand, Councilman Herb Blanks said he couldn't vote on a measure to prepare such an ordinance because the "leash law" could not be enforced. He wanted to know who would "catch a dog and look at his license." Blanks also mentioned that even the existing laws are not enforced.

"Police are not dog catchers," Blanks contended. He concluded his remarks saying that he couldn't agree with the law until the present ones are enforced.

Mayor Steve Grant pointed out that in five years there have been 47 complaints of dogs attacking people, five attacking dogs and one attacking a horse.

William Sefton felt that the law should include more than the beach area and should incorporate the entire city. To execute the law the police should be provided with proper manpower and equipment.

Police Chief Clyde Klauermann was asked to appear before the Council to voice his opinion, which he did saying that his men were "college trained to be police, not dog catchers." He said that anyone would have a hard time running down a dog on the beach and asked what would happen if there were an emergency call while his men were chasing down animals.

In the end there is a preliminary leash law being prepared to govern dogs, loose on the beach without owners being present.

Children's Togs

Pink, navy and pastel colors are very popular this year in childrens clothes, according to Birgit Dagmar of Bib 'n Tucker, everything washable. Dress and coat ensembles are being featured—even bathing suits with matching jackets in velour or terry cloth. Shorts sets in bright colors are in demand for the summer season.
